Interdisciplinary research and teaching center working with three faculties: Social Sciences, Humanities, and Law. The Center for German Studies aims to promote the study of contemporary processes in German society. It organizes symposia and colloquia for scholars and advanced students, and holds open conferences for the general public. Symposia and colloquia serve as platforms to summarize and expand the findings of research projects conducted at the center. Conferences present current issues and debates in Germany to the broader public. Prof. Gisela Dachs conducted a new survey in Israel and Germany after the elections in Germany in September 2021. It reveals a complex picture regarding Israeli perceptions of Europe and Germany, as well as German perceptions of Israel.
