German-Ukrainian University Network

2025-2029

Study and Teaching

Berliner Hochschule für Technik (BHT)

Automation and Computer Technologies of Control Systems , Information Technologies, Artificial Intelligence and Cybersecurity

Project

PACK IT
(Study and Teaching)

Special Interests and Networking

Joint curricula and double degrees packaging technology, automation, energy systems, and computer engineering digital teaching

PhD training

intercultural exchange

Partnering Ukrainian Universities

National University of Food Technologies (Kyiv)
National University of Life and Environmental Sciences of Ukraine (Kyiv)
Institute of Renewable Energy of the National Academy of Sciences (Kyiv)

Prof. Dr. Nataliia Zaiets

nataliia.zaiets@bht-berlin.de

Project Website

Project Outcomes

1. Joint teaching in Packaging & Automation with UA and BHT students in digital and block courses; scholarships, and support provided
2. Double Master's program BHT–NUBIP established incl. credit recognition, aligned curricula, and program start
3. Structured PhD training with annual research stays of candidates and visits of supervisors
4. Students, PhDs, staff gaining intercultural, digital, language, teamwork, teaching, and innovation skills
5. Annual leadership meetings strengthening cooperation and creating new initiatives

Central Activities

- Joint English-taught courses in packaging, automation etc. with UA–DE projects
- Student mobility & excursions; preparatory English courses
- Double Master's BHT–NUBIP; credit recognition & aligned curricula PhD training with annual 10-month UA research stays at BHT
- Leadership meetings of BHT, NUFT, NUBIP, IRENAS

www.daad.de/duhn

With funding from the:
Federal Ministry of Research, Technology and Space

DAAD Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst German Academic Exchange Service